Play and sing in the University of Pisa Orchestra and Choir

The University of Pisa Orchestra (with the University Choir) is part of the "Centro per la diffusione della cultura e della pratica musicale" of the University of Pisa (Director: Prof.ssa Maria Antonella Galanti). Its members are mainly Italian and foreign students, graduates, PhD students and University teachers. Since 2011, the Orchestra, conducted by Manfred Giampietro, presents each year three full-range concerts and takes part in numerous academic and public events. As a member of the European Network of University Orchestras (ENUO), it performed, as the only Italian orchestra, at the 2018 European Student Orchestra Festival in Strasbourg. Its repertoire ranges from baroque to contemporary (including film and video games) music. To be a member of our Orchestra means not only love for music as a cultural experience, but also an enriching, educational and human journey.

The University of Pisa Choir is part, together with the Orchestra, of the "Centro per la diffusione della cultura e della pratica musicale" of the University of Pisa (Director: Prof. ssa Maria Antonella Galanti). The Choir was established in the academic year 1999/2000 on the initiative of Carolyn Gianturco. Its members are students, foreign students involved in the Erasmus project, graduates, PhD students and University teachers. The Choir is conducted by Stefano Barandoni and organizes a concert every year during the "Giugno pisano", a Christmas Concert and takes part to many official university ceremonies. It is well known in the Italian and European landscape of the university choral organizations, with which it entertains a rich exchange of experience; last of them, in June 2019, with the Salamanca University.
